

THE JOURNAL OF COMMERCE LAUNCHES JOCSAILINGS.COM, OFFERING THE MOST CURRENT AND COMPREHENSIVE NORTH AMERICAN SHIPPING SCHEDULES AVAILABLE ONLINE

NEWARK, NJ (October 14, 2008) — Today marks the debut of www.jocsailings.com, a new website from The Journal of Commerce that replaces the popular online Global Transport Analyzer.

JOCsailings was designed specifically to provide shipping professionals — such as freight forwarders, customs brokers, NVOCCs, import/export specialists and others — with immediate, 24/7 access to the latest shipping schedules from across the globe. Schedules, including U.S.-worldwide, foreign-to-foreign, and international trade routes, are updated daily.

JOCsailings.com provides a user-friendly interface with the most robust data possible. Its database includes exceptional online functionality and is fully searchable – by port, vessel, route, arrival and departure dates and more. It is the most comprehensive source of North American shipping schedules available online.

"Shipping professionals have always relied on The Journal of Commerce Shipper Group publications to provide them with updated and accurate schedules from around the globe," said Noreen Murray, The Journal of Commerce Shipper Group Publisher. "Our new JOCsailings.com website gives them everything they need in one easy-to-use and fully searchable resource — from a name they trust."

Published by Commonwealth Business Media, Inc., The Journal of Commerce is the premier weekly magazine covering international trade and logistics. The Journal of Commerce Shipper Group also publishes Gulf Shipper, Shipping Digest, Pacific Shipper and Florida Shipper. The JOC also maintains websites for all five publications, as well as Breakbulk.com and JOCsailings.com. CBMI is a division of United Business Media Limited.
